

Post Vacancy: Product Development Engineer

Company profile

WestGlen Consult provides Engineering Management Services throughout project life-cycle, and are now developing a product that will enhance site project management capabilities. We are a relatively recent start-up company with a cumulative experience of over 20 years in the renewable energy construction market and are ready with financial backing to take our plans for a product to the next stage of feasibility development. Our consultancy work centres on renewable energy and primarily hydropower, where we deliver support and hands-on engineering management services on sites located worldwide. In our work we see a need for a particular technology solution which we now plan to develop. We are looking to attract a bright, driven character, who can see the future potential of the post and become an important player in the company.
